I keep on thinking why we didn't evolve,
We were the tealights that never got burned

And I've been wondering if it was my fault?
Or simply we don't belong...

How could I know it wasn't for sure,
Couldn't or shouldn't be told?

I just envisioned a longer run,
I was really too dumb...

Lately all I do is to wonder,
Why summers always had to be cold?
Can someone pull me up from down under?
Why daylight was never too long?

Couldn't push away the dark of the night
Couldn't hold the reason instead of the pride
Couldn't take one step at a time
Couldn't just stand by?
Couldn't just stand by?
Lately all I do is to wonder,
Why summers always had to be cold?
Can someone pull me up from down under?
Why daylight was never too long?

I take the blame of being remote,
I was oblivious, left you stored..
Then in that case, was it my fault?
Maybe you shouldn't respond
I cannot help to feel comatose
Cause I'm missing your dose
The picture perfect fell to the floor
But we don't care no more

Lately all I do is to wonder,
Why summers always had to be cold?
Can someone pull me up from down under?
Why daylight was never too long?
