Beside the road
The daisy blooms
Smiling red for you
Petals wave you closer
Yeah she draws you in
You start moving towards her

And the colors of the rainbow they shine for you
And the wind blows your worries far away
As you listen to the morning break
And fills the air with song
You know that you have found the one

You wink at her
And with her cherry-lips
She's smiling red for you
You kneel on down
Put your arms around her
To draw her close to you
And the colors of the rainbow they shine for you
And the wind blows your worries far away
As you listen to the morning break
And fills the air with song
You know that you have found the one

Don't smother her, but show her the sun
And she will bloom for you
Together you will grow
Like bamboo in Japan
And watch the sun go down once again

They say growing old isn't bad
When your best friend is there holding your hand.
