I see a million faces
Drawn in the sky
And all I want to know is where you are
I'm standing in a corner
Of a coffee shop in Spain
Wondering Â'bout yesterday

And out comes the rain
Will you catch me if I fall?
Take my hand, hold my thoughts and keep me close
Â'Till the sunny days are back
And my memories complain
That thereÂ's no more space for anyone but you

I see youÂ're constellation
Shining bright and clear for me
DonÂ't want the dawn to break today

I want to spend a moment
Staring deep into the dancing flames
Your eyes look into mine

Some deserve a poem from the heart
Some, a melody to make them move
But you my dear deserve a song tonight
That will make your heart move a little more for me

Will you catch me if I fall?
Take my hand, hold my thoughts and keep me close
Â'Till the sunny days are back
And my memories complain
That thereÂ's no more space for anyone but you
