I've got nothing, if you wanted, you could take it all in a moment, just got the city, and how i love her so, i remember, as you left me at the door, well i won't wait here now, anymore cause this is where i come from this is where i survive

this is where i belong
this is where i'm alive
these are the homes i lived these are the streets i ran these are the friends i love this is where i come from

Out in the park, thats where it starts, thats where you made me in the dark, in the shelter, under the sweltering sun, we were one no other, another time another place just don't ask me now to leave this place
