Love starts with a toothbrush,
a Bic razor and a Dixie cup, a little splash of aftershave, before you leave on that first date a sea of stars flash in your eyes after that long kiss goodnight.

Forever starts with a suitcase, before a honeymoon getaway got the car waitin' at the curb, gassed up for Gatlinburg.
A little chapel and a couple of rings next thing it's two toothbrushes by the bathroom sink ...

Everything that's anything starts out as a little thing it only needs a some time and room to grow.
Step by step and day by day
it all adds up along the way and the next thing that you know.

Life starts with a little house, a corner lot on the edge of town, weed eater and a picket fence you think it's good as the gettin' gets.
wake up one mornin' and she's feelin' bad and you both can see what's up ahead.

Everything that's anything
starts out as a little thing that only needs some time and room to grow.
Step by step and day by day
it all adds up along the way
and the next thing that you know.

One night around eight o'clock, you scrub him down then you dry him off.
Pick him up, put his little feet step stool by the bathroom sink.
Grab the Crest and a Dixie cup it all hits you as he opens up ...

Love starts with a toothbrush ...
