I'm on the phone, you turn your back on me
And we're all alone, why is this happening?
I, I never thought I would be questioning
The one I, one I love

But here we are wrapped up in silence
Can we sound the alarm?
Most of its fighting
I don't know where to start
I keep colliding with
The one I, one I love

Don't make it so hard for me to stay

You should know better than that
And before you go on breaking my heart
And I fall even deeper in love
And my lungs screaming out
"Can you hear me?!"
You should know better than that
And here we are, here we are, ohhh

If I could leave, I would be leaving
Because I cannot believe what I am hearing
Tell me how can it be I'm second guessing on
The one I, one I love

Don't make it so hard for me to stay

You should know better than that

And before you go on breaking my heart
And I fall even deeper in love
And my lungs screaming out
"Can you hear me?!"
You should know better than that
And here we are, here we are, ohhh
Here we are, here we are again

Some forgive just to forget
I've not forgotten yet
I still believe in you

But there's a crack in our cement
This time it's permanent, permanent

You should know

You should know better than that
And before you go on breaking my heart
And I fall even deeper in love
And my lungs screaming out
"Can you hear me?!"
You should know better than that
And here we are, here we are, ohhh
Here we are, here we are again

You should know better than that
And here we are, here we are, ohhh
Here we are, here we are again

You should know better than that
