

Bad Books

"Think About You"

Visit "Think About You" on MotoLyrics.com

I close my eyes and see you standing there alone in the dark.

Your hair is flowing gently in the wind.

I know that you keep missing me as much as I miss you.

Though we are apart, just apart.

Your smile is what I need. Your touch is what I feel.

Your love - the only thing that's true. Think about you.

There was a time when we walked hand in hand.

Together as one.

We shared the hidden fortunes of our dreams.

We walked through seasons in the sun. That warmed us tenderly.

Forever in love, you and me.

Your smile is what I need. Your touch is what I feel.

Your love - the only thing that's true. Think about you.

It's a cold and lonely winter of despair and I saw the tears.

Just slowly running down your face like rain.

The winds of change blow through your hair.

And made me feel so sad - we almost lost all we had.

Your smile is what I need. Your touch is what I feel.

Your love - the only thing that's true. Think about you.

Tomorrow is not just another day. 'Cause I will be back.

Back in your arms, back in your life again.

And I will give up everything to feel your tenderness.

Forever with you home at last.

Your smile is what I need. Your touch is what I feel.

Your love - the only thing that's true. Think about you.

Visit Bad Books page on MotoLyrics.com, to get more lyrics and videos.