I've been lookin' to save the city looks like the biggest thing and now you seem like you're not so real as the songs you give so you pack up your bags and leave to what seems like a better dream it's alright we're only teething only young

yeah since you came last week to say you're on your way you don't have to say good luck
'cos I don't need it babe

the occasional sin is like your music my friend and the singer he don't look me in the eye is there a soul in young things or in the people you meet I know you're obviously misbelieving what you're saying is only right

my sweet to say, you're on your way you don't have to wish me good luck

meanwhile, you're only dreaming me I've got something to see in a heartache's as good as you feel it and now you're on your own

I know I've been losing you and it looks like I'll use you too it broke in a million pieces overnight

I've been to the promised land and I shook the almighty hand who said it's alright you're only teethin' in my eyes

Yeah, since you came last week to say you're on your way you don't have to say good luck
