at a small café
in a big city
sits a man
with his life in his hands watch the nod of his head his eyes heavy lidded

cause
the world turns
the world it turns
the world turns on a dime

there's a girl
with a smile
on a boat
with her brother
sailing for a visit of a year she says goodbye to her home and all things familiar

cause
the world turns
the world it turns
the world turns on a dime

take the train
back and forth
over the border
with suitcases piled overhead will the officer scowl
and stop before passing will he stop before passing

the world turns
