Lately I've been facing a fall
Holding onto something
That means nothing but war

I've been cutting connections
'Causing the walls to build up around me
And faces to fade into blue, blue colors
I walk in shallow waters

Should've gone my own way
But I didn't run just to hide
I ran for a better life, for a better life

You're electric
You know you light up my world
When it's hard to take
So let's run away, ooh

Although I know you're electric
I know that lightning won't strike twice
In the same place
So let's run away, ooh

I want you to know this love
I don't regret what we've done
Or who we are
No need to look for protection

Should've gone my own way?
But I didn't run just to hide
I ran for a better life, for a better life

You're electric
You know you light up my world
When it's hard to take
So let's run away, ooh

Although I know you're electric
I know lightning won't strike twice
In the same place
So let's run away, ooh

I will fly
But you're standing here
Fixing my broken wings
Trying to mend
Try to mend this mess I'm in

You're electric
You know you light up my world
When it's hard to take
So let's run away, ooh

Although I know you're electric
I know lightning won't strike twice
In the same place
So let's run away, ooh

You're electric
You light up my world
So let's run away
