

The Damned Things

"Blues Havin' The Blues"

Visit "Blues Havin' The Blues" on MotoLyrics.com

The Good Lord must have heard my prayers, because he packed up and disappeared He took the praise and extravagant odes, and left the sting I've been dying to know Someone should give that old devil his due
He taught me how to love only you
He taught me how to love only you
I know I owe my good fortune to him

Because he pulled me out of the trance now baby that faith had put me in

I've been blessed with a broken heart since the day I was born
Cleansed in the water, the sons and the daughters, stripped of the sins we're destined for I've been blessed with a broken heart since I've been reborn Drown in the water, the sons and the daughters, the kind of death worth living for

The Good Stranger has seen me grieve Saw the crooked old heart on my sleeve He took the note I had written and said "Only sinners become better men"
Someone should give that old devil his due
He taught me how to love only you
He taught me how to love only you Yea I owe the love of my woman to him

Because he pulled her out of the grave now baby that faith put her in

I've been blessed with a broken heart since the day I
was born
Cleansed in the water, the sons and the daughters,
stripped of the sins we're destined for Well I've been blessed with a broken heart since I've been reborn
Drown in the water, the sons and the daughters, the kind of death worth living for

I can't live without the blues
I can't love without the blues
I can't sleep without the blues
The devil will take his pay so we're alright

I can't live without the blues
Oh I can't love without the blues
I can't sleep without the blues

Because he pulled me out the trance now baby that faith had put me in

Well I've been blessed with a broken heart since the day I was born Cleansed in the water, the sons and the daughters,
stripped of the sins we're destined for Well I've been blessed with a broken heart since I've
been reborn
Drown in the water, the sons and the daughters, the kind of death worth living for

I've been blessed with a broken heart since the day I
was born
Cleansed in the water, the sons and the daughters,
stripped of the sins we're destined for Well I've been blessed with a broken heart since I've
been reborn
Drown in the water, the sons and the daughters, the kind of death worth living for

Visit The Damned Things page on MotoLyrics.com, to get more lyrics and videos.