I feel impure by all these obscurities
Life's just passing me by
She takes my hand she reassures me
That I'm still able to fly
Beautiful girl who takes my world
She turns it right side up
Time will tell but I'm compelled
And I'm not giving up tonight

I take these streets, they're lonely as midnight
When you can't see the moon
And though the stars, they're trying to reach you
The clouds won't let them through

Beautiful girl who takes my world
She turns it upside down
And when she smiles I see for miles
I hope she stays with me tonight

And when you lay your head
I know you'll softly dream
And if I wake you dear will you reassure me
That it paints a picture of our memories
Cause this one's to you from me
