

Exiting The Fall

Welcome to the world where brothers kill brothers like enemies.
No glory in the words they say;
No glory in the works of their hands.
They forget who gives and takes away.
Put your pride aside and see the suffering.
The time will come when your darkest secrets will be known;
Your world will fall apart.
The foundation me your life:
Darkness shattered by the light.
Ideology has paralyzed your hands and feet.
It's left a heart of stone and voice of hypocrisy.
You'll watch yourself disintegrate.
Separate the pride from the prideful and all that's left is a broken man.
Go ahead, put on the mask, but your face will break like glass.
The time will come when your darkest secrets will be known;
Your world will fall apart.
The foundation me your life:
Darkness shattered by the light.
But continue in the lies you make, you'll watch yourself
disintegrate;
You'll watch yourself descend the grave.
