"God Save the Scene"

She walks through the streets sharing parables of wearables with the crowd of the uncool
The secret is in the genes, but I never see her smile Maybe hopeless is the style, but shes singing all the while God Save The Scene

Just fake it and theyll never know Weep for the cooler than thou show
They follow you anywhere you go
But they dont know you like I knew you back home

Living is so suburban but dying is even worse, its so ten years ago

Just when you get it right, you know youve got it wrong Cause theres a brand new way to belong, but were singing the same old song, God Save the Scene

One day, sweet perfection descended and she walked across the pond in central park Shes chillin with Lou Reed, and she listens when you pray Maybe shes in heaven to stay, but shes singing to this day God Save The Scene
