One of these days I'm going to get up early
Organise my life again one more time
Never looked cause I can never see the point of it
Now I realise that was just unkind
My heart talks back, says you've misplaced love
My heart attacks and it won't let up
My heart talks back says enough's enough

Why don't you set me free now
Can you just let me be now
Why don't you set me free now
Can you just let me be now

One of these days I'm going to get up early
Start to think it through again one last time
Not that I cared so much, I just needed a reason
To criticise someone when it's all in the mind
My heart talks back, says you've misplaced love
My heart attacks and it won't let up
My heart talks back says enough's enough

Set me free from all this anger and bitterness
You can't disguise so many lies
Set me free from all this anger and bitterness
Don't confuse vanity with pride
