through the looking glass i see another way of nothingness ephemeral motion therein artificial lights

blind our eyes erasing our deep nature flashes enthrall our mind are you away,

or is it our broken paths driving us insane?
there's no turning back once you've trespassed
the lines of pain.

refurbished oxides to breathe poisoned ambrosias we bleed organic distortions ever changing break down the noise turn off the lights and behold your disguised demons slowly

in truth you are one amongst this crowded night as your delusion fades away and realized the forlorn years are those you ignored you lost control through my eyes I see undefined twists of infinity behind you;
