Majesty Warpaint

When I'll hold your hand
When I held your hand
When I helped you
When I held your hand

You still went the other way
And you wanted me to stay
With my arms stretching away
With my arms stretching away

I couldn't stand outside
Cause I adore your face
I adore your face

Could it be light harm
The same, could it be
I'm your mirror

Shall we we all those things
That you never wanted to face
So you let me slip away
You just watched me walk away
And I just have to ask
Do you know your fate?
Do you know your fate?

Could it be that
I'm your
Could it be that
You are my
Majesty

When it all comes back
When it all falls into place

Could it be that
I don't want it anyways
Could it be

There was a day we used to laugh

And I wanted you by my side
The perfect match
I don't understand
The perfect match

Could it be that
I'm your
Could it be that
You are my
Majesty

You could have been marquis
You could have been marquis
You could have been marquis
You could have been marquis
