"They Need a Million"

I see a rainbow in the sky
So many colors and the light
I see the world and I see all the people
How they're running all the time

I see your shadow over me
Then in my ears, I hear a symphony
I see the world and I see all the people
What they are doing, what they need

They need a million and a billion
And your money too
They need a million and a billion
And your money too

I feel fine, though I realize
That I don't need the million
They are all poor

I feel fine, though I have eyes
To see my world
And all things which are nice

I feel fine, though I realize
That I don't need the million
They are all poor

I feel fine, though I have eyes
To see my world
And all things which are nice
