

The Scorpions

"Through My Eyes"

Visit "Through My Eyes" on MotoLyrics.com

Leaving through the back door
Freezing in the cold
Communication breakdown
Emotional overload
Been through a wall of fire
Now I feel like the ashes glow
Ashes glow

Cars passing on the freeway
My mind is on the run
I keep running from my shadow
I'm not the only one
Somewhere in the distance
Someone's taking flight
Destination unknown
Just fade into the light

So much said and done
But after all
The time has come to
Leave it all behind

If you could see it through my eyes
You'd know I tried to change it all
I've been trying all my life
To stand up every time I fall
If you could see it through my eyes

I feel sadness up my spine
The future on my hands
I'm standing here alone
With open arms again
Tomorrow ain't no stranger
There'll be a lucky star
And love will find it's way
Into someone's heart

Too late for tears
No time to be confused
It's just the echo
Of our swan song

If you could see it through my eyes
You'd know I tried to change it all
I've been trying all my life
To stand up every time I fall

If you could see it through my eyes
You'd see that love will always wait
Somewhere out there is my life
A new love that comes my way

If you could see it through my eyes
Through my eyes
Through my eyes
Through my eyes

If you could see it through my eyes
You'd know I tried to change it all
I've been trying all my life
To stand up every time I fall

If you could see it through my eyes
You'd see that love will always wait
Somewhere out there is my life
A new love that comes my way

If you could see it through my eyes
Through my eyes
Through my eyes
Through my eyes

What was meant to be forever, is breaking all apart
What was meant to be forever, leaves the hole inside
my heart
What was meant to be forever, we throw it all away
What was meant to be forever, was nothing but a game
What was meant to be forever, is breaking all apart
What was meant to be forever

Visit The Scorpions page on MotoLyrics.com, to get more lyrics and videos.