Ice, it forms in sheets from your eyes, your tears are down and so crass

Because all you wanted was a touch from the face
Try to find a feeling nothing and wondering why
And the snow queen turned into a princess of ice Braving cold and staring coolly aloof as you die, die

Under the ice, under the ice, ice

Please, an ill wind blows no one good A hurricane in disguise and it sings you a song you find appealing inside
Waits around until you've learned to sing like a fool
It's a wind that lingers long enough to be fed
Takes away the woman, leaves you hung in a blue sea
of cool, sea of cool

And it sings you a song you find appealing inside
Waits around until you've learned to sing like a fool
