It feels like something's burning up
We both know nothings turning up
I've got a secret that you're trying to hold onto

Everyone's got a feeling there holding back
Let loose from the pressures of a heart attack
I've got some dynamite, I'm gonna expose you

Crack it open like can, hit the floor, out the door, seconds later and I'm gone like a streetwhore.
Out the street in a flash, get the cash, watch the trash, cause you're already acting like you need more.
I've got this feeling that you aint ready for my power
Sit back, relax cause you won't feel right for an hour

I'll change the world with my words
Fuck everything that you heard
You're born to live and you live to die
From start to finish you don't know why
It just sounds so absurd when you travel with the herd
So I'll change the world with my words

I see that fire in your eyes
You just sit back, you don't know why
I'm gonna hound you till you learn to break out.

There's no more feeling holding back
Let your life just spin right out of track
When we're together we will tear all the chains down

Break it out break it down, make a sound, stomp the ground till this whole fucking town just aint around.
Spread your arms like a bird or an angel, please don't try to stay still, if you don't than they will.

I've got a feeling you aint ready for my power
Sit back, relax cause you won't feel right for an hour

I'll change the world with my words
Fuck everything that you heard
Your born to live and you live to die
From start to finish you don't know why

It sounds so absurd when you travel with the herd
So I'll change the world with my words

I'll change the world
Well change the world together
We'll change the world forever
We'll change the world forever

Cause when I wake up
I need that sunshine in my eyes
To chase the darkness from the places where it lies
I'll change the world,
Aint nothing gonna hold me down
Well change the world together
And nothings gonna stop us now

I'll change the world with my words
Fuck everything that you heard
Your born to live and you live to die
From start to finish you don't know why
It sounds so absurd when you travel with the herd
So I'll change the world, I'll change the world
I'll change the world with my words, fuck everything that you heard
Your born to live and you live to die
From start to finish you don't know why
It sounds absurd when you travel with the herd
So I'll change the world, with my words.
