Yes I know, yes I know that the moon does often glow
And the sun, yes the sun will shine for you.
Yes I know, yes I know that the moon does often glow
And the sun, yes the sun will shine for you.

I got a sickness I've been talking bout and no doctor can figure out Because nothing's written about this thing called love It's about time you figured out. Who you are and what you're all about.
Something about you girl is just so above me

Yes I know, yes I know that the moon does often glow
And the sun, yes the sun will shine for you.
Yes I know, yes I know that the moon does often glow
And the sun, yes the sun will shine for you.

In my dreams, when I lay at night, comes a vision that feels so right
Of us together when the world is draped in doubt.
And when I wakeup you're here beside and the sunshine does bless my eyes
Nothing lasts for ever but atleast your here now

CHORUS

And maybe when we think that the day is over, the morning will not come And maybe when we think that the week is over, there might not be another one But it all comes back to this tiny, little thing that we call thinking
And I know, yes I know...

CHORUS
