Looking back at the pictures on his wall
Gazing out of his window hoping one of them might fall
Sometimes, I just can't forgive myself, of many things
I don't get around too much here anymore
I used to fly high every night but really I flipped the wall I'm so tired, I just can't convince myself of anything, at all

[Chorus]

I don't need a hand but I do need shelter
I've been running wide awake too long
So if you take a chance on a 2 time user
Never again will you be left alone
Never again will you be left alone

I was once a young girl in my pride
Long hair and down my neck, ... all look fine Sometimes, I just can't forgive myself, of all those things
The night to me is like an open wound
Every friend that I've never lost and that stories come pouring to me
I'm so tired, I just can't strip myself of anything, I used to know

[Chorus]

I don't need a hand but I do need shelter
I've been running wide awake too long
So if you take a chance on a 2 time user
Never again will you be left alone
Never again will you be left alone

I don't need a hand but I do need shelter
I've been living fast asleep too long
So if you take a chance on a 2 time user
Never again will you be left alone
Never again will you be left alone.
