This isn't worth the price I paid.
The shattered promises collide.
With words and whispers, broken.

This time,
The skeptics called the outcome.
I'm breaking in and out, from all the pressure,
Pulling me in all directions.
I find no shelter in the glance of my reflection.
I find no shelter in the glance of my reflection.

Harder I come crashing down.
I'm all on my my own, left to the tides of silence.
The harder I come crashing down.

This can't be,
I can't breathe,
Can't choke past the grip that's upon me.
Forgive me,
I can't see,
Through the blood and tears, crawling.

I'm face down,
Lost and found,
Removed from the grasp of the unsound.
From your lies I am free, time will heal my wounds.
I am coming for you.

It's over,
The clock has just struck midnight.
Say your goodbyes, goodbyes.

Try you did,
To rip the beat from my chest.
With your failure, I'm blessed.

So with our hearts and heads held high,
White knuckles, pounding fists,
We'll break the silence where the darkness begins.

This can't be,
I can't breathe,

Can't choke past the grip that's upon me.
Forgive me,
I can't see,
Through the blood and tears, crawling.

I'm face down,
Lost and found,
Removed from the grasp of the unsound.
From your lies I am free, time will heal my wounds.

I am coming for you.

These chains cannot break or bind us,
Just another distraction.
This struggle can't separate us or blind us,
From the hope that we've captured.

(We're not alone, we're not alone, not alone*)
(Rescued from what lurks in the shadows)
These chains cannot break or bind us,
Just another distraction.
This struggle can't separate us or blind us,
(We're not alone, we're not alone, not alone*)
From the hope that we've captured.
Hold onto hope, for it will bring us home
