The love I hold inside awaits
Held back beyond these icy gates
And he stares into the space
This will never fall in place

I could never be
You wanted me to stay
Inside the world you locked away
The one you've tried to see
But I won't hide from what could be
The future that was made for me

I don't want to be
I held your hand to say
We had to part this time today
Anyone but me
But now I have no one to hold
This shell I've made has left me cold

And he stares into the space
This will never fall in place

You wanted me to stay
Inside the world you locked away
(This was never meant to me)
But I won't hide from what could be
The future that was made for me

- Look at your bondage...

Deep inside it's cold
Deep inside it's old
I need you to agree
This time it isn't me

I could never be
You wanted me to stay
Inside the world you locked away
The one you've tried to see
But I won't hide from what could be
The future that was made for me

I don't want to be
I held your hand to say
We had to part this time today
Anyone but me
But now I have no one to hold
This shell I've made has left me cold

And he stares into the space
This will never fall in place

- Born in the bondage...
