I feel so out of place
I cannot show my face
How could it be
There's anyone like me?
They leave me far behind
I think they must be blind
No one can see
It's like they stare through me

How can you treat the world this way?
Watch others suffer while you play
You stare with pure insanity
You missed what's really inside me
(How could it be)
I pass into the other side
(There's anyone like me?)
Where there is nothing left to hide
And I can roam and wander free
I think I found eternity

Alone I start to cry
But no one wonders why
I never bleed
I feel like I've been freed
The world just passes by
And truth falls where I lie
I'll never see
The love inside of me
I should spare it
How could it be
There's anyone like me?

How can you treat the world this way?
Watch others suffer while you play
(I should spare it)
You stare with pure insanity
(How could it be)
You missed what's really inside me
(There's anyone like me?)
I pass into the other side
(I should spare it)

And I can roam and wander free
(How could it be)

(There's anyone like me?)

I should spare it
How could it be
There's anyone like me?

I should spare it
How could it be
There's anyone like me?
