I gotta 'lil gal just as cute as sin,
She has a lotta curls
And a dimple on her chin.
Swore she'd never cheat on me again,
But then she went dancin'
With someone I called friend.

She's done it again.

I took her to a dressy, posh affair,
To talk about life
And how much I care.
Before the first glass of wine was gone,
She was talkin' to another guy
On her new cell phone.

She's done it again.

Why does she always treat e this way?
Love her more than I could ever say.
If she would promise to be straight arrow true,
I'd never be lonesome,
I'd never be blue.

After all she's said and all she's done,
I got her to agree to life as one.
I took her for her word,
And hired a preacher man,
But, the day before the wedding,
She went on the lamb.

She's done it again,
Oh Lord, She's done it again.
