Happy days are here again
I half believe and half pretend
Just one thing that's always on the mend

Please take this trouble heart away
Please take this trouble heart away

Trade it to an auctioneer
He can make it disappear
Try anything ???long as it's far from here

Please take this trouble heart away
I don't think that I can wear it another day

You know as hard as I try
This old heart comes right back to me
Just like the track of a bird in the sky
Something I could not see

Now I always thought it'd be better
All shiny and new
Well it might be all busted and broken
But at least it's true

Don't take this trouble heart away.
