"You"

I see the sky inside your eyes
I see the stars, the moon, the Milky Way
I think in time I'll meet you there
High up in space we'll lay on satellites, on satellites
I'll order out your favorite meal
Tonight we'll dine on Jupiter or Mars
Let's make a toast to countless stars
The sun will melt dessert as it floats away, it floats away

Looking down on earth from a meteor
You can't help but say, "It's the greatest view"
There's no better place to tell you how I feel
The way I feel about

You... I think that I'm sinking deeper into
You... and nothing else matters nothing else but
You... I think that I'm sinking deeper into
You... and nothing else matters nothing else but you

I see the world inside your eyes
When still at times I lose sight of myself
But now I know we all need someone
The one who gives us strength to be ourselves... to be ourselves

Now we're back on earth from that place up there
I can't help but say, "I don't feel afraid"
There's no better time to tell you how I feel
The way I feel about

You... I think that I'm sinking deeper into
You... and nothing else matters nothing else but
You... I think that I'm sinking deeper into
You... and nothing else matters nothing else but you

No one else like you
In this universe, in this universe
There's no one else like you, you
In this universe, no
In this universe, no, no

You... I think that I'm sinking deeper into
You... and nothing else matters nothing else but You... I think that I'm sinking deeper into you, deeper into you
Cause there's no one else like you
No one else like you
No one else like you
