It's so funny the way you always act surprised
When I tell you what's on your mind
But the feelings you feel are right there in your eyes
Boy you must think that I'm blind

You're wondering if there's something more
Is this what you were put here for
But I'm still lost in wonderland
When you look my way, when you hold my hand

Think it over now
We can make it through somehow
I won't let you go
Think it over now
Our love is tried and and it's true
But there's no getting over you

Things will always look different in the morning light
And tomorrow's another day
And the dreams that you're scared of sleeping on tonight
They only get in your way

I know you'd like to change the world
But we're only just one boy and girl
And somethings are not meant to change
Like the love I feel when you call my name

Think it over now
We can make it through somehow
I won't let you go
Think it over now
Our love is tried and and it's true
But there's no getting over you
There's just no getting over you

Where you gonna run to gonna hide tonight
Come into my arms let me hold you tight
Think it over
You've got to tell me what's on your mind
You and I can make it if we try
Before we say goodbye

Think it over now
We can make it through somehow
I won't let you go
Think it over now
Our love is tried and and it's true
But we can make it through

Think it over now
We could be making love somehow
I won't let you go
Think it over now
Our love is tried and and it's true
But there's no getting over you
