From the heart of Europe we marched down to the cities of the holy land we pledged our lives to serve the cross to guard the secrets of the temple's vault

We dressed in white and warlike red a few noble knights of purest soul armed with cold steel and fiery hearts infidel dogs we slayed with wrath

We sought the wisdom of the gods through moslim texts, catharian codes and zoroastric formulas to the feverish writings of St. John

We hold the grail, the blood of christ the dead sea scrolls revealed the truth we felt the hypocrisy of the church lies and corruption spread by Paul

We turned our backs to king and pope we spit the cross, symbol of pain like real sons of James the just we did disown the law of +god+

They hunt us down, they took our homes comrades lost, tortured to death as our last grand master screamed inflamed in Baphomet's name we shall return

[chorus]

Knights of the temple, guardians of the flame warriors and wizards, the dragon's way keepers of the grail
