summoning all the knowledge learned from the time of birth clouded by a shadow of doom guided only by instincts from the past feeding on flesh and bowels as if it cures the disease cannibalistic epidemic continues infecting thousands by the day millions shall victim to the plague witnessing as far as the eye can see desecrated remains that cover the ground dried blood encrusted and brown rancid stench of defecation entrails lie dragged about roaming the earth wasting, rotting away infested with thoughts (of what life used to be) no escape from this living hell
