I heard it's not a question
But a situation
And a bad one at that
Who do you trust
Whos side are you on?
Does she even need to know

Well I'm not searching
For your advice
I just don't know where my loyalty lies

How can you say that i should do
What I should do
With so much lieing on my words
Should i speak the truth or bear the look!
On her face

And does she even need to know
About the things that go around behind her back
Cause she's not asking
Hes not telling her
Cant it all just go away

How can you say that i should do
What I should do
With so much lieing on my words
Should i speak the truth or bear the look!
On her face

The look! on her face
Well I'm not searching
For your advice
I just don't know where my loyalty lies

I just need to decide
Where my loyalty lies
