It's hard enough to know
That something's made us not the same
Did I give all I could give
Or spend all I could spend in vain

We were holding on the line
Waiting for the sun to rise
But we could not believe
The sunlight never crossed our eyes

I'm giving you my heart to break again
Oh I'm leaving you a way to get back in

Return to me

We were holding on the line
Waiting for the sun to rise
But we could not believe
The sunlight never crossed our eyes
I'm giving you my heart to break again
Oh I'm leaving you a way to get back in

Return to me

Every heart goes down and every fire goes out
When we don't hurt anymore
I know it's all my fault that you're behind this wall
But I'll be here when you break it.
When you let it down.

Return to me

I'm giving you my heart to break again
