Put a man straight out on his own
I tell you, this boy, you'll sink like a stone
Wait around till the full of the moon
When it's green on the field and the skies are blue

Tell your lies just to take your time
Think you can see until you tell you're blind
Catch the first train out of town
Don't look back, boy, don't you turn around

Oh, I know it's so hard

You better run, run, run, you better run
You better run, run, run, you better run
You better run, run, run, you better run
Better run away

Find a life that you call your own
Find a heart that you needed so long
Take some time and you listen good
'Cause you do things you say that you never could

Walk around in a couple of shoes
The walk in [Incomprehensible] swear you would never use
Feel real love and you feel strong
Sometimes boy, it don't last too long

Oh, I know that it's so hard

But you better run, run, run, you better run
You better run, run, run, you better run
You better run, run, run, you better run
Better run away [Incomprehensible]

Oh, I know that it's so hard
Oh boy, you know I know it's so hard

You better run, run, run, you better run
You better run, run, run, you better run
You better run, run, run, you better run
You better run, run, run, run, run
