It can hurt you to find someone worth living for Worth dying for

When you learn to set them free you know it's out of your hands
It's out of your hands

In a few days I'll be gone from here
If time won't discriminate then you can't stay here
No
You can't stay

Where has the time gone
Where is the love
Where has the time
Has she gone

There's a lot to learn
There's a lot to learn
There's a lot here to learn as in why the sun
It burns

And the love that we made in those years
It turns to dust under our dirty heels
You just held out your hand and grasped for the times
You knew they'd passed

There's a lot for you to learn as in why the sun
It burns

There's a lot for you to learn as in why the sun
It burns
