The nights are so long
These endless, sleepless nights
And something in me dissolves all that I am
It's all in my head
Sometimes I can't forget
This can't be wrong
I need some time
I need some peace of mind
Take me away
But let my heart to stay
I need to feel the presence of your love
With me in that place
That place away from here
I need some time to myself away from you
It's better without you
There was a time when I
I was upset and going insane
And I was begging you, begging you to stay
You said:
Destroy what you are
You need to find yourself again
But all I need is some peace of mind
And you're not what I need
Take me away
But let my heart to stay
I need to feel the presence of your love
With me in that place
That place away from here
I need some time to myself away from you
It's better without you
Take me away
But let my heart to stay
I need to feel the presence of your love
With me in that place
That place away from here
I need some time to myself away from you
It's better without you
Yeah, it's better without you
