I was headin' in the wrong direction
Headin' east when I should have been west
Makin' wrong turns at each intersection
Scapin' by, but never doin' my best

And I've been doin' a little soul searchin'
And I think I've stumbled upon myself
With some personal intervention
I've discovered my own well

You've got to sing what you love
And love what you sing
And live for the moment that means everything
Say what you love, but mean what you say
An' live like there's no tomorrow
Live, Love , Sing

I gave my heart to many takers
Well it always came back again
I don't blame them, it just made me stronger
A stonger man in the end

Now I'm headin' in the right direction
A smile and a spring in my step
You see I've always had the best intentions
I'm a better man for it

You've got to sing what you love
And love what you sing
And live for the moment that means everything
Say what you love, but mean what you say
An' live like there's no tomorrow
Live, Love , Sing

Don't have to worry about tomorrow
Don't even worry about today
Just let me sing away your sorrows
And we'll forget about yesterday

You've got to sing what you love
And love what you sing

And live for the moment that means everything
Say what you love, but mean what you say
An' live like there's no tomorrow
Live, Love , Sing
