She said he ain't ever here
I've wasted all these years of my life
'Cause all we do is fight
And stayin's gettin' hard to justify
And blaming him for everything is easier
Than swallowing her pride
Yeah, there's a lot of gray involved
But love ain't black and white

Baby, love ain't black and white
No there's different shades of truth
And when a red-hot love burns out
It'll leave you black and blue
And there may be a silver lining
But it ain't always in sight
'Cause baby love
Baby, love ain't black and white

He said anytime I'm gone
The only place I want to be is back home
'Cause every night's a different town
This road's done worn me down to the bone
I know we're living on a prayer
But girl, I swear to you
It's all gonna be alright
There's a lot of faith involved
'Cause love ain't black and white

Baby, love ain't black and white
No there's different shades of truth
And when a red-hot love burns out
It'll leave you black and blue
And there may be a silver lining
But it ain't always in sight
'Cause baby love
Baby, love ain't black and white

Yeah, sometimes it's hard to see the signs
But you've gotta read between the lines

Baby, love ain't black and white

No there's different shades of truth
And when a red-hot love burns out
It'll leave you black and blue
And there may be a silver lining
But it ain't always in sight
'Cause baby love
Baby, love
Baby, love ain't black and white
