Gotta get myself together
Try to make it through tonight
Tell myself the way we were never broken
There are times thought I might be
Finding ways to make it right
That you walked away and opened up my eyes

Now I see that I have been wasting time
I had a picture of us painted in my mind
Now it's fading and there was nothing left to do
Letting go, cuz I know
We were only half way there
Eventhough we were close
I was holding on just long enough to know

I should be letting go
I should be letting go

Thinking back on when you used to
Fill my head with fancy words
Wishing now that I refuse to listen
How did I ever let it happen
Never thought I would never say
Gotta leave this life and all the foolish pain

Now I see that I have been wasting time
I had a picture of us painted in my mind
Now it's fading and there was nothing left to do
Letting go, cuz I know
We were only half way there
Eventhough we were close
I was holding on just long enough to know

I should be letting go
I should be letting go

Now I see that I have been wasting time
I had a picture of us painted in my mind
Now it's fading and there was nothing left to do
Letting go, cuz I know
We were only half way there
Eventhough we were close

I was holding on just long enough to know

I should be letting go

I should be letting go
