I must find relief,
Relief from the rain
The rain against my skin.

Soon it will seem,
The coldness of my skin
Will stop me breathing.

The ground has pulled me down,
And now I see
Everything so clear.

My heart is heavy now,
But I feel
There's nothing to fear.

And my imperfections
And life's best intentions, have faltered me.

Relief from the rain,
Will come every day,
To those who believe.

And my imperfections
And life's best intentions, have faltered me.

Relief from the rain,
Will come every day,
To those who believe x 4.
