Wherever you are
it's 3 A.m. and I'm awake Imagine the light Upon your blue transparent face Through coloured glass
It filters down to warmest red Faded.. I'm the one who reads your mind See my life in your design True companion at your side you're gracious and good When all around is turning bad Restless and brave
When laid upon suburban grass
Your timing is right
Remove the sad persistent thought
Hold the course
I'm the one who reads your mind
Sees my life in your design
True companion at your side
I'll give you something for when I'm not around to make you smile
and if you think it then it must be true if only I could make it through climb into my bed
wherever you are
your timing is good remove the sad persistent thought
hold the course
I'm the one who reads your mind
Sees my life in your design
True companion at your side
I'll leave you something for when I'm not around
To make you smile
Outside that wasteland
And if only I could make it through
If you think it then it must be true Wherever you are
