I've never seen the wind,
Though I can feel it
I don't know where it comes from
But I believe in it
Can we change the weight of the world or how it's spinning?
The number of days we've been given?

Just finding a place under the sun or shade
Every day a comfort to me
Knowing we can't change somethings

The sending of the rains when we
When we need it
I watch the seasons change and I believe in it
Oh this
Wreckyard of a mind I've created
Still letting the sun shine in and heal it

Can we reach the end of the skies though we chase it?
Find the birthplace of the stars though we name them
We name them

Just finding a place under the sun or shade
(Under the sun or shade)
Every day a comfort to me
Knowing we can't change somethings

It's a comfort to me,
Knowing there's somethings we can't change,

Just find a place under the sun or shade
Every new day, a comfort we can't change
Just finding a place under the sun or shade
Every day a comfort to me
Knowing we can't change somethings
