"Close To You"

You can take away every thing that I own
You are all that I need
I won't ever be alone
You are the joy that floods my soul
I just want You to know
There's no place I'd rather be than close to You

I want to be close to You
I want to be just where You are
In that secret place where I can see You face to face
There's no place I'd rather be than close to You

You are to me my life, my joy, my peace
You are everything I ever wanted to be
You are the melody to the song that I sing
And there's no place I'd rather be than close to You

I want to be close to You
I want to be just where You are
In that secret place where I can see You face to face
There's no place I'd rather be than close to You
