Do you think it's all over?
Do you feel your life is like a lover that's turned their back on you, oh?
Are you runnin' for cover?
Does a day go by that you're not a wishin' that you could start anew?
I hear you, alright

So you feel a little jaded?
Do you find your dreams have all been traded
For a grownup point of view?
Have your memories faded?
Did you forget how you always swore you'd make it?
Well, why is life now living you, oh?

So many days I'd waste away
Let my dismay consume and bind me
Now here I stand, a liberated man
I took command by taking it easy

They say you ain't got it but don't you believe it
They pray that you'll fall in line
Within your reflection, discover perfection
Don't fall for the loveless lies
The one to believe in is right before your eyes

What they sell, are you buyin'?
Do I come off like another pitchman lyin', well, who can you believe?
I think dyin' is what you feel
Just the child in your heart a cryin' for you to set it free, oh

We're bought and sold, taught lust for gold
Trade youth for old school blind ambition
But if you slow it down and take a look around
You won't believe what you've been missing

They say you ain't got it but don't you believe it
They pray that you'll fall in line
Within your reflection, discover perfection
Don't fall for the loveless lies

The one to believe in is right before your eyes

What's family honor, did you faithfully bow down and allow your father

To steal your sense of pride?

Or was it your momma, has she treated you

Like you've been her little trauma since the day the rabbit died?

I hear you, oh yeah, yeah, yeah

They say you ain't got it but don't you believe it

They pray that you'll fall in line, oh

(Right before your eyes)

Within your reflection, discover perfection

Don't fall for the loveless lies, oh, oh, oh

They say you ain't got it, don't you believe it

You've been chasing a waste of time

It's in your reflection, a shining perfection

If you look with your heart you'll find

(Right before your eyes)

The one to believe in is right before you

The one you can lean on is right before your eyes

The one you can turn to is right before your eyes, oh,

oh, oh
