There's something wrong with me that I just can't explain
Each time I hear your voice I can't control my brain
I'm lost for words and I don't know how to behave
I'm high but I'm not stoned

I thought for once I had everything figured out
It only took a day and now I'm filled with doubt
You are the only one that I'm so glad I found
I guess I just got owned

How does this feel so right?
Can't stop thinking about you
You keep your walls up high
And I can't get my head around you

When will you break free from
The fakeness that surrounds you
You're still in disbelief but....
I like everything about you

She said
We should contain ourselves before we lose control
Living a million miles away from you won't help at all
We better think this through and take it really slow
Just don't get to attached

I'll miss you and I promise we will meet again
I've been so distant and you've been nothing but tolerant
It's nice to hang out with someone who's just like me
Let's always stay in touch

How does this feel so right?
Can't stop thinking about you
You keep your walls up high
And I can't get my head around you

When will you brak free from
The fakeness that surrounds you
You're still n disbelief but...
I like everything about you

Are we gonna meet again?
Even if we do will everything still be the same?
Probably you're having doubts
Let's just agree to disagree until we try it out

How does this feel so right?
Can't stop thinking about you
You keep your walls up high
And I can't get my head around you

When will you break free from
The fakeness that surrounds you
When will you realize that
I like everything about you

How does this feel so right?
Can't stop thinking about you
You keep your walls up high
And I can't get my head around you

When will you break free from
The fakeness that surrounds you
When will you realize that...
I like everything about you

I like everything about you
Fuck the fakeness that surrounds you
'Cause I like everything about you
