skull rock mountain is the place i reside
a mask made of bone covers the face that i hide ive been in this mountain since you chased me inside.
because you think im evil im discrased till i die...
weve all heard the stories of the time of the kings.
a beautiful land , man its a sight to be scene.
but far beyond the kingdom of the knights and the queens.
sits a barren land. stripped of all its vines and its trees.
this place is ugly black dark, old and decayed and the only men who enter are the bold and the brave.
Its a ten day journey through the cold of the caves.
a land filled with death. old and moldy remains.
High atop a mountain deep inside of this place sits an unknown king, see hes hiding his face he controls an army of the deadliest men who were kicked out of the kingdom for a medly of sins.
well theres things that happen here.. terrible things made clear by the echo of unbareable screams children of the other kingdom all hear what i mean the skull rock king, see he, appears in there dreams.

well he wasn't always evil so the fable. would say it was the people of the kingdom that made him this way.
a little bit different cause his face was decayed.
showed scars of a life filled with hatred and pain.
not the same as the others, he was labeled insane.
people chased him to this place where they made him remain.
a sinister place fueled by the evil of man
the sadness passed he began to think of a plan.
he climbed to the highest and the steepest of land.
to make a kingdom of his own that was equally grand.
it was there he saw mountain that was shaped as a skull
from there he could see himself taking control.
control of the kingdom he had seen as a home..
then all the people would leave him alone.
with a mask over his face . believed to be bone.
on this day ,,,he became the king of his throne.
now he sits atop a throne. a product of man the people from below, they do not understand they made him this way. when they kicked him off of the land
he climbed from the bottom to the top where he stands.
now there all fucked cause hes starting to plan building up his army. the plottings began.
accept any sinner from the kingdom below one kingdom's thinning and the other it grows.
men torn from their homes, their children and wives thrown from the kingdom, cause they had to steal to survive.

told there familys they were evil and filled them with lies.

and so began the army . built out of pride.

led by the man with the mask on his face.

one day they would go back to this place.

except the king. he didnt have a place of his own except the skull rock throne and his face made of bone.
