While you were waiting
The sun rose up as the morning birds sang
There were a couple responses to a million dreams, While you were waiting for the vision that you had in mind,
Options came but still you remained blind,
Don't let your vanity trick you into thinking you know
what's best for yourself,
Your vision is myopic as you're livin in a world of depth
And it ALL ends

While you were waiting,
Looking for answers but you're still guessing,
Learning to accept uncertainty as a beautiful thing
While you are waiting
You've got ideas and vast creativity
Don't let your wishful thinking towards the future put it off
Do it now today is the day to let it all hang out
For soon comes tomorrow

While you are waiting
While you are waiting
