(n. cherry/c. mcvey/l. kravitz)

Into a world I plunge thru my headphones, escape into the streetlight

I begin to believe in destiny when my surroundings in rhythm with me

I'm just a grain of sand walking in a sea of people

I look around me and my name is just someone

For a moment in time I belong

Where my heart beats the fear is gone like destiny

Chorus:

So move with me I'm strong enough to be weak in your arms

Move with me I'm strong enough to be real in your arms

Whispering as I was driving quietly the car was rolling like a bullet

I was feeling the speed moving me faster. addicted to the rhythm on my ghetto blaster

That's me supposing that the clarity of thought

Is clear enough to think it's real enough to touch

The wind on me got me tripping can I keep you next to me

Till the end of the world

Chorus x2

Like the joker on the pile never coming or going

The colour of my true cards was showing

Keeping in touch with an idea that I been growing

Trust trust I must trust with my head on my chest

I rest with the rest of the restless

Chorus...
