

Granger Smith

"Five More Minutes"

Visit "Five More Minutes" on MotoLyrics.com

I think of my grand dad in '44, overseas fighting in the war
He was the pilot of a B-24 and father of my dad
If he hadn't made it home ok, then I wouldn't be here today
It wasn't until he passed away that I realized what I had Precious time keep that back
I wish I had 5 more minutes, one more time with him
Share a cup of coffee with him and hear his voice again
I'd tell that I loved him and he would know how much I meant
Cause you can love a lifetime and 5 more minutes
When I think about college days, it's not just a class you take
No, it's more about the buddies you make, you remember all your life
And when we're off any school one did what he was born to do
Served this country for me and you and sacrificed his life
And we still miss him all the time
I wish I had 5 more minutes, one more time with him
Share a cup of coffee with him and hear his voice again
I'd tell what a friend he was and he would know I mean it
Cause you can love a lifetime and 5 more minutes
I drove to see me dad yesterday, when it was time to go I changed my mind
And told to wait
Give me 5 more minutes if that's alright with you
Share a coffee with me that's the least that I could do
I told him that I love him and she sure knew I meant
Cause you can love a lifetime and 5 more minutes
It only takes 5 more minutes.

Visit Granger Smith page on MotoLyrics.com, to get more lyrics and videos.